Relational Security demonstrates explosive growth in FY2005

N. Bergen, NJ - Feb 2006: Relational Security Corporation, a provider of risk & compliance management software, today announced that in 2005 sales grew more than 65% over 2004. Relational Security's sales growth was driven by many client wins, as well as existing client expansions in other compliance areas.

"2005 was an exciting year for Relational Security," said Vivek Shivananda, President & CEO of Relational Security. "We won many new clients and continued to help expand our existing clients' compliance footprint in their environments. Many of the new clients came from markets we entered in the beginning of 2005 - Financial Services, Insurance, Pharmaceutical, Energy and the broader Fortune 500. We are very pleased to see clients embrace RSAM in these new markets. It validates RSAM as a leading risk & compliance software that seamlessly adapts to the needs of many verticals. Many of these clients are quite mature in their own rights with respect to developing in-house risk & compliance frameworks. We are proud that these customers have selected RSAM as their solution of choice."

Some of the marquee customer wins include:

- $13b Financial Services Firm -Banking & Brokerage
- $20b Insurance company
- $10b Energy Company
- $40b Global Pharmaceutical
- $14b Global Hospitality Company

Relational Security continued to demonstrate its technology leadership in 2005. In Sep 2005, Relational Security launched RSAM v4.0 which allows clients to further extend the power of RSAM within their environments. Clients are now able to expand their risk & compliance assessments well beyond information security. Clients are now able to integrate areas such as Privacy, Facilities Management and even create their own custom assessments," said Kevin Day, Relational Security's founder & CTO. Besides improvements within the core RSAM technology, Relational Security also introduced many new control templates such as GLBA, FFIEC, ISO1799:2005 and TSP (for Third-party Service Provider assessments).

"2006 is already proving to be an explosive year." added Mr. Shivananda. "Due to RSAM's success & our team's excellent execution coupled with a hot compliance market, our sales pipeline has tripled since last year. We will continue to focus on serving the needs of our clients and introducing innovative products that enable organizations to manage risks more effectively, reduce assessment & compliance costs, and provide a mature foundation for enterprise risk management programs."
